SEINE RISES TO HIGHEST LEVELS

HAS NEARLY REACHED TO RECORDS IN HISTORY.

FLOODS QUARTER OF FRANCE

Rain Adds Horror to the Scene—
Dykes Break in Many Places.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Jan. 24.—The flood situation is perilous. The Seine has risen nine inches since two this morning, and now registers 7.53 meters at Pont Royal.

This is the highest the river has been since 1862, when it reached 8.80 meters, the highest record in the history of France except in the year 1615.

A terrible tempest of rain and wind broke over the city at daylight and added to the horror of the situation and to the suffering of the poor and homeless.

The situation in the suburban places up and down the river is deplorable. In the lower quarters of all the towns below Paris they are under water and the streets of Antoinette resemble Venice.

A dyke near St. Germain broke today, flooding the valley as far as Malmoulin.

Judging from today's reports fully a quarter of France is now under water.

In southwest Paris all railroad traffic is completely suspended and the streets around the Chamber of Deputies are considered unsafe for traffic and these thoroughfares are forbidden.

The walls of the foreign offices are surrounded by water and the beautiful garden in the rear a veritable life.

It is impossible to estimate the property loss on the results of the floods, but it will run into millions of francs. Fortunately the loss of life is small.

The eastern, central and southern districts of France are terribly afflicted.

Valleys and plains are inundated and cities and towns in darkness.

Troops everywhere have been ordered to aid in the work of rescue.

The dykes at Saint-Amand broke this afternoon inundating ten villages. Hundreds of persons are on roofs of submerged houses crying for help. Two were drowned at Chalons.

ANOTHER PROBLEM PRESENTED TODAY

WATERWAYS COMMISSION MAKES REPORT TO CONGRESS.

MANY RECOMMENDATIONS

Result of Investigation in This Country and in Europe of Use of Water Routes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—The preliminary report of the National Waterways commission, based upon a comprehensive investigation of this country and abroad, was submitted to congress today.

It recommends, among other things, a general plan for the conservation of all water-powers.

It advises resorting to federal and state legislation rather than to unnecessary channel improvement merely to enforce the reduction of railroad freight rates with the inhibition on the other hand of the manipulation of such rates to freeze out water competition.

It also advises a uniform system of distribution of the cost of waterway improvement between the federal, state and local governments.

A general restriction of dam construction permits.

An inauguration of such waterway projects only as can be completed within a reasonable time.

For federal tax on all power furnished to consumers.

The reservation by the government of the power to alter or repeal power rights issued.

The most essential requirement for the rehabilitation of water traffic is asserted to be establishment of harmonious relations between railways and water lines.

No federal improvement of the waterways will suffice the commission insists, without the co-operation of the communities and business interests and between the rail and water routes.

The most striking instance cited of the decrease in water-borne traffic is that of the Erie canal, though the commission regards as "quite as striking" the decrease in traffic on the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

The report says on the other hand that traffic on the Great Lakes has increased enormously.

The preliminary report will be followed by a subsequent report with further recommendations.

CALVERT SPENSLEY'S CASE TO BE CALLED FOR TRIAL SHORTLY

President Of Defunct Mineral Point Bank To Appear In Federal Court At Superior Soon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Superior, Wis., Jan. 24.—The term of the federal court which convenes here tomorrow will be made notable by the trial of Calvert Spensley, president of the defunct Mineral Point National Bank of Mineral Point. Though the bank failed early in October it was not until last month that the assets of the institution were arrested on charges of violating the national banking laws. Since his arrest Spensley has been at liberty on $20,000 bail.

No bank failure has occurred in Wisconsin in years has been followed by such an appalling string of disasters as has followed the closing of the bank of Mineral Point, which was regarded as one of the strongest financial institutions in the state. The failure of the bank was due directly to the speculations of Phil Allen, Jr., the vice president, who looted the bank to the tune of $200,000. Allen has been tried and sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. Following his conviction came the arrest of his wife, her sister and brother-in-law on charges of concealing property belonging to Allen in an effort to circumvent his creditors.

The most appalling climax to the bank failure, however, was the suicide of the cashier, Frank E. Hanks, followed by the death of his mother-in-law. Hanks, though himself innocent of any blame attaching to the bank failure, felt keenly the humiliation of the situation and the disgrace which had fallen upon Allen, who was his brother-in-law. Going to the Mineral Point cemetery, Hanks, a week after the crash, shot and killed himself on the grave of his mother.

TWO CITIES ARE SEEKING TRUTHS AS TO COST

Both Chicago and New York Have Juries at Work Now on Prices.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Jan. 24.—New York is today in the thick of a fray for the reduction in the cost of living. The grand jury investigation into the meat question is pending and the prosecutor's inquiry into the cold storage situation has been begun, and meetings to protest against the high prices of food products have been called.

LIBERALS GAIN SEVERAL SEATS

IRISH CONTINGENT, HOWEVER, CONTROL THE SITUATION.

PECULIAR POSITION FOR ALL

Nationalists Hold the Key to the Whole Affair and May Swing the Parliamentary Affairs.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Jan. 24.—The Liberals have materially increased their score, according to today's returns from Saturday's elections, and the position of the parties is as follows:

The government coalition: Liberals, 200; Laborites, 33; Nationalists, 69. A total of 302.

The opposition: Unionists, 219. This means that for the first time since the days of Daniel O'Connell, an Irishman, John Redmond looms up as the man of the hour in British politics. The trend of the elections so far indicates that Redmond with his solid following of Nationalists will be the government maker or unmaker during the life of the next parliament.

Even Premier Asquith, himself, becomes a figure of secondary importance compared to the Irish leader, who now becomes the twentieth century Warwick.

Both parties claim the support of the Redmondites—the Unionists, because the Irish were opposed to some of the features of the recent budget—the Liberals, because the Nationalists always have looked to them for the passing of a home rule bill.

Home rule, however, is not likely to get far next session, according to well versed politicians, because the reform of the House of Lords, which the Prime Minister has written at the head of his program, promises a great struggle.

Parties in Perplexing Position.
Never in the recollection of the oldest politicians have the British parties been in such a perplexing position as they find themselves today and are likely to face when the next House of Commons is organized. So evenly divided is the membership of the next House, and so close is the popular vote, that the result of the elections for all practical purposes may be considered a tie.

No human mind can divine which of the principal and different questions before the electors had the most influence at the polls, or whether the results mean that the people demand tariff reform, or are loyal to the Lords, or anxious to reject Chancellor Lloyd George's budget, or whether all three of these had an important effect.

Under these circumstances neither party wants the responsibility of attempting to legislate, and, since a division must be so close, the Unionists are better satisfied to be in opposition than to have won by a very small majority.

Mr. Balfour's speeches show plainly that with the existing conditions he is glad not to have control of the government. Premier Asquith would be equally pleased to escape the perils of piloting the party through the troubled waters. There are precedents for him to ask the King to summon another leader to form the government, but no one expects him to haul down his flag. All the prophets make the prediction that the new cabinet will find itself in the minority within a year, and that the country will plunge into another general election.

One hundred and sixty-seven seats remain to be filled, of which 102 are English. In the last parliament there were: Unionist, 30; Liberal, 116; Nationalist, 16. Should the present trend of voting continue neither the Unionists nor the Liberals can muster a majority of more than a dozen, and the Nationalists, with 83 votes, will be wholly masters of the situation.

The Conservative party, headed by the older lion, Lord Lansdowne, represented by Lord Lansdowne, and Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, now report of having permitted Radicals like David Lloyd George and Winston Spencer Churchill to commit the party to a budget which is so far on the road to what their opponents term socialism. The Liberals claim that their enemies are trembling in their boots lest they find the government on their hands, with the necessity of raising revenues for old age pensions and a larger navy, and at the same time attempting to adapt protection.

Country for Protection.
The surprise of the campaign has been that the manufacturing centers, with a few exceptions, have gone for free trade, while the agriculturalists shifted to the protection party. The Conservatives are convinced that this campaign is the first milestone in a great struggle in which history will repeat itself and in which their party will return to power by gradual steps, as it has in the past whenever disastrously overthrown, and will firmly establish imperialism and protection.

That the struggle is bitter, even at the present moment, there is no question. The one time chivalrous atmosphere of British politics has been wonderfully changed. So much personal feeling and so many charges of lying and intimidation have been unknown since the reform bill days.

The Liberals make wholesale charges that the workmen in the factories, the farm laborers and tenants have been dismissed and threatened with eviction for supporting their party.

David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, and the author of the budget which led to the general elections, was re-elected today, but his majority was 110 less than at the last general election.

PARENT'S DUTIES
TO HIS CHILDRENREV. DR. BEATON SPOKE ON IN-TERESTING SUBJECT.

GOOD HEALTH IMPORTANT

Discipline and Setting Good Example for Them Also Regulates—Great Influence of a Good Home."The real purpose of the child is to discipline you." These words form the keynote of the sermon on "What Parents Owe to Their Children," delivered by Dr. David Beaton at the Congregational church last evening.
"The interest of the school and the home," said Dr. Beaton, "are the important interests of the nation. One of the most astounding things of the civil life of this country is that the largest amount of taxes are paid for the maintenance of our schools. That is true of no other nation in the world.
In dealing with the question of what parents owe to their children, we are dealing with the greatest interests that belong to society. In the duty of the parents to their children is one of the chief duties of their lives. If you train your child in the way he should go he will not depart from you when you are old. The hope of the nation is in the boys and girls."
"One of the principal things which parents owe their children is good health. It used to be that the weaknesses of the child were saddled upon Providence, but the vices of the father or the mother, or the grandfather or grandmother are visited on the children. Sometimes the vices of the grandparents or of the parents have set the doom of debility on a young life. The first duty the parent owes to the child is to give that child the heritage of good blood. If we have blundered and lived a riotous and il-luminous life, we have doomed the rising generation. But food, not enough food, and not enough food of the right sort is largely responsible for the weakness. One of the things the boys and girls need today is not "nerve" as the term is used in slang—they have too much of that—but nerves tingling with physical energy. That is the first thing you owe your child. Refrain from good blood and nourishing food for your children.""The second thing you owe to your children is a start in life. Some little wealth may help but there are greater things than wealth. One of the things that the wealthy men of today—the men who have made money through their own efforts—are beginning to realize, is that to leave a large fortune to their children is in large measure to leave a curse to the children. The reason for this is that we are demonstrating for every boy or girl who that training which teaches them to rely upon themselves, the only other thing they do is to lead a life of idleness, luxury and debauchery. In Europe
you will find that the possession of wealth puts a certain responsibility on you. Wealth in this country has no social claims and the first instinct is to use it for social indulgence. Therefore a start in life means that the boy or girl must begin one step higher than the father or mother has. This is not always the case. There are lots of parents who are on a higher plane than their children and they must show the children that they (the children) must live the place of the parents.""The personal example is a great responsibility. The greatest ethical and spiritual influence on young people is their own personal example. It is not what a boy or girl possess of external appearances, that counts, but what they have of character."
One thing which parents are liable to forget is discipline—the discipline of the home, of the school, and of society. Children are often led to think that discipline means repression.
Discipline is directing a boy or girl into the right character development.
Many parents possess the idea that because their own inclinations were for a certain line of work, that also must be the calling of the child. Robert Louis Stevenson was an artist, but his father was an architect and builder and could not understand nor fathom his son's inclination for literature. Many a tragedy in the home is caused by the parents who demand not what God intended, but what they intended the child should be. The real purpose of the child is to discipline us. It is your business to learn the child's disposition and then being influenced to bear that will develop it.
What a blessed thing it is in a home where there is a variety of talent and disposition and the home becomes a little society of its own. There is one gift that has a marvelous influence in a family and that is musical talent. One thing that preserves the home and keeps the boys and girls from the dangers they encounter on the streets is that you have some gift or talent that will amuse them and attract them to the home.Discipline is not a repression of the powers, but training them and developing them. Discipline and training may be irksome to the person at the time, but it means the getting possession of new powers. The idea is precisely the same in the development of the morals of a young man or woman as in building them up physically or mentally."But there is one last idea of discipline. You, fathers and mothers, look into the faces of your children and you know you work hard for them and have the feeling that by feeding them, clothing them, giving them an education and giving them a good example to follow, you have done all.
But you must do more. Set some ideals before the child. That is his great right—the heritage of idealism.
There is not a Jewish, Grecian or Scottish boy that is not told of the great men of their country, their heroes, and an ideal of patriotism set before them. There never should be an American boy born who should not have a high ideal of patriotism.
No country has any more or greater heroes than America. The saints did not all live in Jerusalem, nor thousands of years ago, and there are men and women living now whose lives
your boy or your girl could look up to as a pattern to follow after.""If you want to keep the boys and girls off the streets one way is to fill their hearts and minds with a burning interest to amuse themselves. One of the great weaknesses of modern lifeis that the boys and girls are allowed to run about on the streets. The street is the gateway to all that is dangerous."Friends, we want you to train your children to be happy, useful and strong and courageous for the great work of life in the service of God and humanity."ALLEN'S STOCK MAY PROVE GOOD ASSETInventory of the Securities Show Total Valuation of Over Two Million.An inventory of the securities and other holdings of Phil Allen, Jr., vice president of the defunct Mineral Point bank, was filed in the bankruptcy court at Madison by Richmond, Jenkins & Sampson, representing the Central Wisconsin Trust company, receiver for Allen. It is a lengthy document and discloses a total par value of mining and other stocks of $2,112, 250. What its real value will be may not even be guessed at, so uncertain is the quality of a large part of the stocks.These stocks represent holdings in 122 different companies, mostly mining. Some are worth their face value.
Others have a depreciated value. Still others are absolutely worthless. A large amount of correspondence has been received in reference to the value of the various stocks, and the determination of their true worth will not be known for a long time to come.Among the securities are two life insurance policies for $2,500 each and one for $2,000. A fourth, for $1,157, fully paid up, is claimed by Mrs. Allen.In addition the holdings include ten parcels of real estate in Wisconsin, Illinois and Colorado, a one-fourth interest in the Kennedy mine, a one-half interest in the Harris mine, and a one-eighth interest in the Ivo mine. He also had $350 in bonds of mining companies.One tract of Colorado coal lands is very valuable and may bring between $30,000 and $40,000. The Kennedy mine is also an excellent property.APPLEBY ZEALOUS IN DISCHARGE OF DUTYFormer Janesville Man Takes Possession of Whole Fleet of Freighters.For the multiplicity of his constabulary nets, Chief Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Appleby, late chief of police of Janesville, is fast gaining the championship title. The other day he came back from up north after making 74 arrests of saloonkeepers and Indians for violations of the liquor laws. Now he has just returned from a trip to Superior, where he seized six of the largest steamships on the Great Lakes, each being nearly a block long.The Great Lakes Transportation company of Cleveland, O., having foundered in financial difficulties, was made defendant in suits for debt, and accordingly the marshal was brought to serve attachments on the steamships R. L. Ireland, Lewis Woodruff, Lako Shore, General Garretson, R. E.
Schuck and J. R. Wood.Each is of from 10,000 to 15,000 tons burden and are monsters in size, their hulls extending almost a block's length. They are all-steel and updated in every respect, and are used in the freight service on the lakes.Mr. Appleby placed a man aboard each boat as a guard to defend the property until the case comes up in court on Feb. 14 at Superior.CHURCH PURCHASED

IN A SHADOW

Inveterate Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis.Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms as the poison (caffine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.
"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an ill woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic.""No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected.""The doctors told me I was liable to become paralyzed at any time, so I was in constant dread. I took medicine of various kinds and no end of patent medicines—all to no good.""The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay.
I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen.""About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum.
I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time."Read the little book, "The Road to Well-Being," in place. "There's a Reason."Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.The machine formerly used in illustrating lectures at the church was the property of Rev. Denham.

Your Money Back If You are Not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or "cathartics" do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthy activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of the world's greatest research chemists. As an active agent it possesses the valuable qualities of the best known intestinal tonics as well as being particularly pleasant and prompt in its result.

We want you to try Laxal Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons and old folks as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associated organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, the chronic or surgical variety, and the migratory or associated or dependent chronic ailments. If taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time, they come in two sizes of packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 25 tablets, 25 cents. Sold in Janesville only at our store, The Laxal Store, The Smith Drug Co.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"I HEAR the newspapers say I am dying. The charge is not true. I would not do such a thing at my time of life," said Mark Twain the other day. "My time of life" incidentally was seventy-four years and twenty-four days.

There are few things that I have read or heard lately that please me so much as that characteristically delightful utterance of America's beloved old philosopher.

It seems to me that the very best way to defer death is to defy it, to regard it, as he did, as a thing you would not dream of doing at your time of life.

And the best way to defy sickness and helplessness is to regard them as things you have no time to indulge in and still less time to think about.

In nine cases out of ten it seems to me that excessive care of oneself, excessive attempts to conserve one's energies, are the quickest roads to illness and feebleness.

This does not mean, of course, that it is good to use one's powers extravagantly and carelessly.

It simply means that to the very entrance of the valley of the shadow one should constantly be using one's powers to their fullest, that even to the end they grow by use.

Men are more or less like witches in this respect. They run better if they are kept continually wound.

To be sure, regularity of life, obedience to the laws of health, and relaxation when relaxation is needed, are necessary for the man as a regular thing of whiling, some care and an occasional overhauling are necessary for the watch. But he will just as surely defeat his end who attempts to prolong his life by putting a stop to his activity as he who attempts to make his watch last longer by leaving it unwound.

If a man ever fears, lest he is about to be engulfed in the foolishly self-saying feebleness of invalidism or old age, it seems to me the best motto he can take for himself is:

"It is better to wear out than rust out."

And I think in nine cases out of ten the man who does make that his motto will not die either very soon. The very spirit of his determination will probably prolong his life.

Robert Louis Stevenson says:

"It is better to lose health like a spendthrift than to waste it like a miser. It is better to live and be done with it than to die daily in the sick-room. By all means begin your fight, even if the doctor does not give you a year, even if he hesitates about a month, make one brave push and see what can be accomplished in a week. It is not only in finished undertakings that we ought to honor useful labor. All who have merit good work with their whole hearts have done good work, although they may die before they have time to sign it. Every heart that has beat strongly and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world and bettered the tradition of mankind."

Heartily I agree and even more heartily honor the way in which Robert Louis Stevenson lived those words.

CHARACTERISTICAL LY PARISIAN TOQUE.

Two tones of the modish hair felt, or brown rose are seen in the materials fashioning this plush covered crown, the lighter tone in the wide band of moire ribbon which encircles the hat, forming a huge flat bow at the back. In some familiar forms the toque has already become oppressively popular, but toques of the Russian Casseck and Russian types designed to harmonize with the tailored suit, will undoubtedly hold undisputed sway throughout the winter season. Many of the most exclusive models show the combination of two wholly different materials, those of ribbon with heavier plush, heavier with velvet, and velvet with fur being especially popular.

LIVE THOUGHTS TO REMEMBER.

By MARY RUSSELL.

A pretty girl passed a group of boys still in their teens the other day when one of them looked after her and made a rude comment on her appearance. One of the embryo citizens turned on him indignantly and said:

"I think you'd better disinfect your mind!"

To disinfect the mind? A sermon in a sentence!

The man who has learned to save us from infectious diseases is worthy and rather free of all honor, but the laurels of the thinking world would crown the man who learns how to disinfect the mind.

Every safeguard may be thrown around the child and yet the taint of evil may enter in. The mind becomes diseased and the heart and soul is sick. Since no divine alchemy will cope with the disease, then the preventative method is the only one left for us to follow.

Clean thoughts, and clean living, clean bodies and clean souls, this must be the work of the parents. Not of the mother alone, but of the mother and father. The work of a good mother is to be considered faith and of a good father, the example of an unwavering will.

The man who, reeking of tobacco smoke, will talk against smoking to his son does more harm than good. He will say that he has fallen into the habit and it is hard to break, but he cannot make his argument against tobacco carry weight with the boy. If he says that he does not object to tobacco when the boy matures, but only in the formative period, the boy will question quickly at what time did the father begin to smoke and that generally finishes the lesson, for father began when young and—father is a pretty good man. And so the son, who perhaps is not of as strong fibre as the father—owing to that same tobacco habit—is easily tainted and the effort of the mother to disinfect his mind is futile.

The really good man who takes a glass of beer when he chooses and knows when to stop is much more likely to infect the youth of his vicinity than the drunkard. The one is a fine example of a man who is ruler of his appetites, but the other is an awful example of the appetites governing.

One, by example, tempts the young untold soul to see how far he dare go and the other warns him that perhaps he is not strong enough to withstand the temptation if once the habit of drinking is formed.

The man who swears and yet is—parently—a gentleman, will tempt the youth to use an oath when an obscene man will excite disgust.

Like the child who takes an infectious disease lightly and still infects the whole neighborhood with a virulent form of the disorder, the modern man slays his thousands.

When we are working together in harmony for a higher life and pure thought let us remember that the infection of the minds of the young is to be avoided. Let the man who knows his faults disinfect his own mind that he may not destroy the hope of the nation.

STATE BANKS IN COMBINATION.

Banking Commissioner of Wisconsin Finds New Kind of Trust.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—The state commissioner of banking has discovered a new kind of trust—a combination of banks in the small towns of the northwest. The annual report given out asks for legislation to prevent such a combination. The report shows that there is a Minneapolis holding company which holds the majority of the stock of 40 banks in the small cities of Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas, and there are other similar holding companies being formed.

The commissioner believes that there is a serious danger in these banking trusts, for the general holding companies cannot pay close attention to the individual banks, and the risk to the individual of subordinate officials not directly interested in the concerns is great.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The election of Gifford Pinchot to succeed Charles W. Eliot as president of the National Conservation Association is announced. Dr. Eliot, at whose suggestion Mr. Pinchot was elected, retains the honorary presidency. Mr. Pinchot takes active charge today. Headquarters will be in Washington. Mr. Pinchot said:

CANNOT APPEAR BEFORE KING.

Lady Constance's Name is Stricken from English Monarch's Lists.

London, Jan. 24.—King Edward has ordered the name of Lady Constance Stewart Richardson stricken from all court lists, because she persists in giving her barefoot dances at the Palace Music Hall. Through Sir Edward Knollys, Lady Constance has been advised never to appear before the king again.

Lady Constance collapsed when the royal command was given her.

The king formerly was friendly toward Lady Constance and admired her athletic prowess.

SUE TILLMAN FOR CHILDREN.

Senator's Daughter-in-Law Will Bring Suit to Recover Their Custody.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Benjamin R. Tillman, Jr., will in a day or so institute suit against her father-in-law, United States Senator Tillman, to recover the custody of her two children.

The children, both girls, are in care of Senator Tillman at his Washington residence. Their father is employed as clerk to the senate committee on the five civilized tribes of Indians, of which Senator Tillman is chairman.

Nobleman Discovers Bogus Bills of Exchange at Florence.

Rome, Jan. 24.—A Roman nobleman, whose name is withheld, but who is suspected of being a duke, discounted at Florence bills of exchange to the amount of $10,000 bearing the forged signature of Cardinal Rampolla formerly papal secretary of state. Efforts are being made to hush the matter up.

The New Idea.

"He hasn't much sense," said the health aid enthusiast, disgustedly.

"Why, he hasn't enough sense to go out into the wet."

Freak of Old Red Cloth and Oriental Embroidery

The freak above was of old red cloth combined with a rich Oriental embroidery in soft-tone and gold. Quite an elaborate gown is this, extremely rich in its coloring. For plastron and cuffs gold lace is used, and at the yoke and on the sleeves are tiny little folds of red tulle. This also appears below the shaped piece of embroidery on the bodice. The skirt is draped into a shaped band of the embroidery near the feet and, following the accepted mode for afternoon toilets, the gown trails slightly. With it is worn a smart hat of black velvet, trimmed with black pompons tipped with gold.

31 WRECK VICTIMS; PLUNGE INTO RIVER

NUMBER OF DEAD IN CANADIAN PACIFIC WRECK NOT YET KNOWN.

OVER THIRTY ARE INJURED

It is Believed Score of Bodies Are in Submerged Cars—Some Floated Away, Others Are Believed Burned to Ashes.

Nelson, Ont., Jan. 24.—One of the four cars which plunged into the Spanish river on Friday afternoon when a Canadian Pacific passenger train was wrecked at that point was raised above the surface of the water and 14 bodies taken out.

Bodies Floated Away. With one end suspended by heavy cables from the bridge and the other end resting on the bank workmen crept into the wrecked interior and brought out the bodies. The forward part of the coach was badly demolished and it is not unlikely that some bodies floated away.

The list of dead whose names are known now numbers 25, in addition to six unidentified women and children whose bodies were taken from the first-class coach yesterday. Besides these 31 it is supposed that a score of bodies will be found in the tourist car, and an unknown number were burned to ashes with the second-class car.

Wreck Occurs on Bridge.

The wreck occurred on a 200-foot steel bridge with overhead girders and a 30-foot embankment sloping down to the Spanish river underneath.

The engine and three cars had passed safely upon the bridge when the forward trucks of the second-class coach jumped the track and struck an immense steel girder with such force as to snap the girder in two and split the car as if divided with a cleaver.

The rear of the second-class coach swerved out to one side, pulling the colonist car, first-class coach and diner off the bridge into the river and tipping over the Pullman beside the track.

In the dining car occurred one of the greatest struggles men ever made to save their lives. The first call for dinner had just been made and Conductor Thomas Reynolds of North Bay was one of the diners. With him were W. J. Bell, a lumberman of Sudbury; David Brodie, police magistrate of the district of Sudbury, and several others.

Reaches Safety Through Ice.

In an instant all were in the water above their heads. Reynolds exhorted the passengers to hang on the hat racks, chandeliers and other projections and, diving into the icy waters, he broke through a window and emerged on the outside of the car.

By the merest chance the car had listed sufficiently to allow him to get up between the ice and the car, climbing to the roof, he reached in and pulled Alfonso Ronnel, six years old, of the Canadian Soo, and Police Magistrate Brodie of Sudbury, a small man, through the ventilators. The others were too large. No ax was available and with almost superhuman strength Reynolds, aided by those inside, tore a hole in the roof, through which eight passengers escaped—all who came out of the water alive with the exception of Brakenham Morrison, who was at the rear of the first-class coach, and another man who managed to reach the surface.

Injured in Marvelous Rescue.

The first to come through the roof of the dining car was W. J. Bell of Sudbury. He is resting in his home, but 30 stitches were required to close his wounds. Police Magistrate Brodie has three broken ribs and his face and scalp are terribly cut. He is confined to the general hospital. Conductor Reynolds was bruised and cut, but was able to return to his home at North Bay. The chef and waiters of the diner were trapped in a small compartment of the car, but were rescued. They are in the Sudbury hospital.

Wakely's Slayings Caught.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Aylan, the leader of the band of Filipinos who murdered Tilden H. Wakely of Chicago and H. D. Everett in 1908, and three of his companions, have been captured by the constabulary, according to information received by Chicagoer Wakely, father of one of the murdered men, from the bureau of insular affairs.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, January 24, 1870.—Jottings.—An Appleton paper says Appleton has the prettiest girls that can be found in any city in the Union. The editor has forgotten Janesville for the moment, probably.

If the city fathers would promote the morality of the city, they should keep the pump at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets supplied with tin cups. For lack of such a convenient one man states that he has already invested in three glasses of beer.

The results of "taking a horn" are plainly visible in Judge Lynch's right eye, which is black and blue. He was engaged in feeding some animals when one of them by a sudden movement of the head touched the Judge's eye, and gave him the appearance of having participated in a "horn."

Janesville has five first class lumber yards.

Sometime within the past week the home of A. W. Russell, 57 Glen street, fourth ward, was entered during the absence of the family and a trunk robbed of about $40 worth of goods. Lock out for meat thieves.

Despite the mild and soft weather which prevailed during the last week, sleighing seems to maintain the ascendancy over wheeling as runners are in the majority on the streets.

Saved From Surgeon's Knife

FEMALE WEAKNESS.

In Its Worst Form Readily Yields to the Chiropractic Adjustment—Read This Testimonial.

"To Whom It May Concern: I suffered for thirteen years with Female Weakness, suffered as only a woman can appreciate, and one year ago my physician, after calling in another physician for consultation told me that the only way to save my life was by an operation.

"I felt that I would rather die than submit to an operation, and hearing of the success which R. Puddicombe was having in Chiropractic adjustment was prevailed on to let him attempt a cure in my case. Though doubtful at first I must now say that he has made me perfectly well from my trouble and I would advise any woman who suffers as I did to lose no time in calling on the Chiropractor and becoming well, as I do believe this science is the most wonderful ever known. I will cheerfully answer any letter from suffering women who write me and enclose a stamp." Mrs. L. S. Rose, R. R. No. 7, Rockford, Ill.

The Chiropractic Adjustment is a positive way to make people well who suffer from ASTHMA, APPENDICITIS, BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, LUNG TROUBLE, HEART DISEASE, STOMACH TROUBLE, DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES, LIVER TROUBLE, DISEASES OF WOMEN, FEMALE WEAKNESS, EPILEPSY OR FITS, PARALYSIS, RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, Eruptions, MUSCULAR TROUBLES, Etc., Etc.

If you are a sufferer it is not worth a trip to my office to either prove or disprove my claims? Hundreds of your neighbors have proved me to do as I say. I ask you to make the effort that will make you well.

SILVER WEDDING AT THE JEFFRIS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Jeffris Entertained on Saturday Evening with a Delightful Musical.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Jeffris celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage by a large reception and musical at their home on St. Lawrence avenue. The guests were seated in the spacious parlors and listened to the charming program rendered by Mrs. Hanna Wolff and Alexander Zukowsky. Both had been heard here before, and their program on Saturday was most charming. Their selections were divided into six parts as follows:

- | | |
|-------------------------|-----------|
| (a) Papillons | Schumann |
| (b) Etude de Concert | Schlozer |
| (c) Legend | Whitewall |
| (d) Serenade | Dreile |
| (e) Gypsy Dance | Sasha |
| (f) Nocturne in F sharp | Chopin |
| (g) Two Mazurkas | Chopin |
| (h) Two Etudes | Chopin |
| (i) Ballade in G minor | Chopin |
| (j) Told de Diable | Tariful |
| (k) Nocturne in C | Grieg |
| (l) Butterfly | Heintze |
| (m) Rhapsodie No. 12 | Liszt |
| (n) Nocturne, D Major | Chopin |
| (o) Humoresque | Dvorak |
| (p) Ronde de Luth | Bazini |

Immediately following the musical Mrs. Wolff seated herself at the piano and played the Mendelssohn wedding march and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffris, preceded by Master Rufus Jeffris, appeared and presented themselves before the guests. David Benton and a mock renewal of their wedding vows was held. Mrs. Jeffris wore her wedding gown and her bouquet of bride's roses was thrown in true bridal style to the assembled guests. Both leaned on canes and the affair created much merriment.

Delicious refreshments were served in the ballroom downstairs, a hundred and twenty being seated at a time. Handsome gifts to the host and hostess on their silver anniversary were displayed on the sideboard and were many and varied. The room was decorated with southern palms and dotted with silver leaves, while tiny electric lights shone forth between them. All typified the silver days of wedded life.

Wages, Profits and Cost of Living
Topics to be Discussed
Tomorrow.

Tomorrow evening the third banquet of the Social Union club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building. The topics to be discussed are those which are just now attracting such widespread attention owing to the federal investigations that are being held in Chicago, New York and elsewhere and to the general boycott of meat by many of the labor unions and workmen. Arthur M. Fisher is the leader for the evening and the following is the program arranged for:

- "Wages, Profits and Cost of Living."
- "Skill and Efficiency of the American Workman."
- C. H. Hemmingsway.
- "Distribution of Profits Between Capital and Labor Under the Present Wage System."
- Charles L. Mohr.
- "Other Proposed Systems for the Distribution of Profits."
- Joseph C. Shuler.
- "Increase in Wages as Compared With Advance in Cost of Living."
- F. J. Holt.
- "Present Cost of Living as a Subject for Investigation for Congress."
- Francis C. Grant.

ICY WALKS HAVE A BAD MORAL EFFECT

Pedestrians Do Not Enjoy the Pleasure of Slipping and Sliding Along.

Stoughton, during the past week, had some great tests of snow-skiing skill in the form of a ski tournament, but the citizens of Janesville, at the same time, have a sport that for excitement any ski tournament ever held, both for skill and danger, and that is plain pedestrianism.

It is doubtful if walking has ever been more difficult in the city. Those who are compelled to stick to the old reliable "shank's mare" style of locomotion can daily be seen stepping gingerly upon the ice-coated sidewalks with a mincing, hopping step, as if the walk burned their feet or their shoes were too tight.

After a few steps the walker generally gets up courage and grows careless, only to experience a premonition that all is not well as he takes a single twist glide on a particularly glossy spot and grabs madly at the air in an effort to preserve his balance. Then he looks foolish, or if too angry to mind how he appeared, exceedingly wrath.

The round ladies and gentlemen are having their troubles. It is with a prayer in their hearts that they venture out into the cold uncertainty of the icy walks, and it is with a relieved heart that they scurry back into the house with a few words expressive of the regard in which they hold the man who will not clean his walks.

Anyone who wants to study human character can stand on a street corner and watch the different expressions of the face as he picks his way over the ridges and hummocks of treacherous ice to his way home to safety or the imminent battle.

SERVICES FOR MRS. BERRIE HELD TODAY

Funeral Was Held This Afternoon From Home on Center Street—Many Out of Town Relatives Here.

From the home of the deceased on Center street funeral services for the late Mrs. Agnes Berrie were held at 2:30 today, Rev. T. D. Williams officiating. The services were attended by a large family circle and friends. The floral offerings were very beautiful. James A. McArthur, James and William Lennox, and Mr. Morrison acted as the pallbearers. The remains were laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Berrie was for many years a resident of this city. Her husband, John Berrie was quite prominent in the city in the early days as a musician, playing the bass viol in the old Bower City band. Of late years Mrs. Berrie has been a rather secluded life, being visited occasionally only by relatives. Of these there are two nephews and a niece living in Chicago: Mrs. Morrison and James and William Lennox. The latter started for Janesville on Saturday evening to visit her, having started from his home in Austin last before the message from the train. He got off the train before it reached the station and missed the people who were waiting for him there. On his arrival at the home he was astonished to find the house locked and terribly shocked when informed of his aunt's death.

Out of town relatives who were here for the services were: Mrs. Alex. Robertson and Miss Christine Robertson of Ravenswood, Ill.; Mrs. James Danahall of Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison of Chicago, James Lennox of Austin, William Lennox of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Scott of Avon, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Van Gilder of Avon, and Mr. and Mrs. James A. McArthur of La Prairie.

Grace Wilbur.

This afternoon at two o'clock from the home of Mrs. E. H. Dixon, 113 South Franklin street, the funeral services for the late Grace Wilbur were held. The services were conducted by the Rev. David Benton in the presence of many relatives and friends of the deceased. Handsome flowers covered the casket. The pallbearers, messes of the deceased, were, Fred, Jesse, George, Benjamin, and Frank Dixon and Samuel Powers. The remains were interred at Oak Hill.

Mrs. George Richardson.

Short prayer services for the late Mrs. George Richardson will be held tomorrow morning at ten o'clock from the home, 214 West Bluff St. The remains will be taken to Belmont on the train leaving here on the St. Paul road at 10:35 and funeral services will be conducted here.

Ollie Hogan.

Ollie Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hogan of this city, died in Detroit, Mich., Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. The remains were shipped to this city, arriving here at 10:30.

BALLINGER-PINCHOT QUIZ WILL BEGIN THIS WEEK

Not Thought Much Will Be Accomplished Until Late in the Summer

Washington, Jan. 24.—The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation will be formulated Tuesday, when the joint congressional commission has another meeting. The exact time for the examination of witnesses and other preliminary matters will be arranged.

All the surface work will be outlined, leaving the deep processes for future consideration. It already seems certain that not much can be accomplished until late in the summer, especially if the committee must adjourn and sit in Alaska, where a personal inspection of the coal lands in dispute may be made.

Senator Nelson will confer with Secretary Ballinger, Clifford Pinchot, Glavin, Shaw and Price over the preliminary, and will report to the time needed by the parties to the controversy for the preparation of their briefs, statements and testimony. Many witnesses will be brought to Washington by both sides, and some of those who will testify will come all the way from Alaska.

The impression now is that the taking of testimony will begin on Friday. Hearings will be held in the senate office building. A room is now being fitted up for that purpose.

TWO BANDITS ARE CAPTURED.

Sweetheart's Betrayal Leads to One Arrest—Others Near.

St. Louis, Jan. 24.—C. O. Eames, chief of the Missouri Pacific railway's secret service, said the identity of the robbers who held up the passenger train near this city on Friday night is established. Their arrest is expected today. Clues furnished by a sweetheart of one of the bandits and information given by a hucker who witnessed the hold-up from behind a bush betrayed the desperadoes. The girl is 18 years of age and lives in the mountains near Eureka, in the county of which the hold-up took place. Posses are searching the northern part of the county, where they expect to find the outlaws.

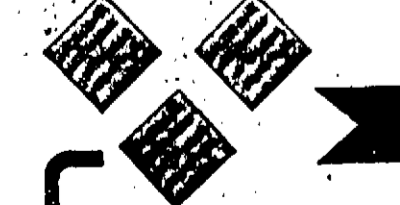

Late last night, Night Police Chief Gillespie received a long-distance telephone message from Matson, Mo., saying two of the band were locked up in a box car.

SIX-MASTER WRECKED; 15 SAVED Crew of Schooner Tied to Rigging for Ten Hours.

Edgartown, Mass., Jan. 24.—One of the few six-masted sailing ships, the schooner Mattie II, Crowley, lies a total wreck on the reefs three miles off the southeastern end of Martha's Vineyard island. The ship was bound from Baltimore to Boston with coal.

To the bravery of Skipper Levi Jackson and four sailors of the Edgartown fishing smack Priscilla is due the rescue of, of the 15 persons aboard the Sylvester saw the difficulty. "Fen!" he exclaimed. "Absinth for Powell!" Mrs. Nolan expressed her regret at not having any absinth and left the room, followed by Phyllis, to arrange for something for Powell to eat. "Poor fellow! He looks hungry," she whispered to Phyllis.

Sylvester caught the poet by the arm. "One minute, Powell," he cautioned. "Do sure you don't mention anything to the folks about my little actress friend. I don't want them to know that I am going to take a crack at uplifting the stage. The little girl will be all right. She'll just make your libretto hum. She'll fill all those weak places. You know, Powell, there are some. Where's that poem for her? Finished yet?"

"Yes, it's here somewhere," fumbling in a pocket. "Have you made it amorous for the little girl?"

"Judge for yourself. Of course I tried to write in your vein as well as I could, so that there would be no doubt to the authorship."

Sylvester read the lines: "Oh, Guinevere, how sweet my heart My spirit soars in dreams denied, Worldly beyond words with thee, my bride—"

"I don't like that much," he announced when he had finished. "Bride! Is it necessary to put that in writing? Besides, it doesn't sound as if I wrote it. Now, does it, 'Powow, old chap? Pess up.'"

"I hope it doesn't sound as if I wrote it."

"I thought you'd see it. Now, change that and it's a knockout drop. Can't you change it now? And I'll send it to the little girl tonight on a bed of orchids. Make it something beginning with 'ruby lips—' you know the sort of stuff—and then here and there 'eyes like night, full of delight,' something on that order."

Powell sat and wrote for a few minutes. "Here," he finally said. Sylvester glanced over the shoulder of the rising young genius, who read aloud these inspiring words: "So bright and beaming are those eyes The very stars twinkle in surprise. Thy hair so like the dusky night, Thy kiss so vibrant with delight, I thrill unto my finger tips. Oh, ruby, ruby—rougey lips!"

Powell literally writhed in agony as he listened to the doggerel. "It's grand!" cried Sylvester ecstatically. "And now come get your tea."

Gee, I'd like to take a crack at being a poet!"

The two conspirators hurried into the dining room as Wheeler Brand and the owner of the Advance came into the drawing room. "You're right, Wheeler; you're right," Nolan was saying. "This is a better showing than I hoped for. Look in your stocking next Christmas. There'll be something for you. When I got into the newspaper business, Brand, they told me it was the beginning of my finish, that it sucked ten fortunes down for every one it built and no middle aged man ever went into it and came out again without teeth marks all over him. But look at that! He held up a typewritten manuscript. "I'm richer for going in—twice as much as when I came out at this time."

Nolan seated himself on a settee. "The big advertisers never put their ads so long as they are getting returns from them," put in Brand. "Look at Dupuy. Remember how he threatened us and how his clients took their ads out for two months?"

"Yes, but they put them back again."

"Why? Because they need us more than we need them," Brand laughed. "Well, he's got something else up his sleeve now," remarked Nolan. "He telephoned that he would come to see me this afternoon."

"Are you going to see him?" Brand asked curiously.

"I thought I might as well. He'll be here. Maybe he wants to fire you again." The newspaper owner looked up at Brand and laughed heartily.

Mrs. Nolan and Phyllis re-entered the drawing room, and Brand became the especial object of their attentions. "The mother desired to have him print the list of her invited guests who had never attended the reception. Phyllis requested him to print a story about the violinist and was vastly annoyed when Brand informed her that the subject was a matter for the musical editor to attend to."

"And there's something else, Mr. Brand. A look of despair came into Brand's face. "Phyllis went to Miss Bartelmey's musicale the other day, and you didn't even include her name among those present," the mother said.

"Why, I'm sorry. That was an oversight. I assure you, I suppose they made up the usual list in the office."

"I hope it won't happen again," remarked Phyllis indignantly.

"Yes, and the way the handling this Loris divorce case is all wrong," snapped Mrs. Nolan. "I know Mrs. Loris. She is no better than she should be, and people who live in icehouses shouldn't throw hot water."

"We have no policy in the Loris enso," remarked Brand in defense. "We merely print the facts."

"Facts?" Mrs. Nolan cried. "That paper upsets me for the whole day every morning."

"There now, mother; I guess the paper's all right," ventured Nolan soothingly.

"You're not another genius, Michael. Nobody reads it but shopgirls, who spend a penny for the Advance and another for a stick of gum and hang on to a strap with one hand and the Advance with the other while they're waggling their jaws all the way down to work. That's all that reads it!"

She paused for breath, then went on. "And I must say I think it's scandalous the way you attack Judge Bartelmey every little while."

"Yes," contributed Phyllis, "and his daughter's one of the most exclusive and sought after girls in New York. She's the only one of her set who has been at all nice to me. Isn't that so, mamma?"

"Yes, and why the paper should go for her father just as it does for every other prominent man in town I can't see. She must think it's very funny that such things should appear in the Advance after what she's done for us."

"Oh," suggested Brand, thinking to soothe his employer's wife, "she probably knows that you have absolutely nothing to do with the policy of the Advance."

"Is that so?" ejaculated Mrs. Nolan indignantly. "They certainly are very kind hearted people to act the way they do in the face of that paper."

"Judge Bartelmey is first and last a politician," explained Brand. Michael Nolan bent forward intently.

The conversation had now reached a point where he realized an issue of vital importance to himself and to the Advance had been touched on.

"Well, I suppose he has been colluding up to us a little," he began, then paused.

Brand drew a deep breath, stood up erect in the middle of the drawing room and daringly explained the situation to the owner of the paper.

"Bartelmey handles people better than any man in town," he declared. "He has studied the Advance, dissected its position and—I will be frank with you—discovered its weaknesses. He knows he can't reach you through your equality or political ambition because you lack those qualities. He now realizes that his only hope of influencing us lies in an appeal to us." He hesitated. "Well," asked Mrs. Nolan unanimously. Brand found the courage to complete the sentence.

I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it. —Mrs. MAE McKINNON, Oronogo, Mo.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanative Wash and now I have no more troubles that way." —Mrs. AL. HENZOW, 6722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a different one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

"His only hope lies in an appeal—to your family's social desires"—Phyllis roko from her seat, her cheeks red with anger—"and that's the only reason he has for taking you up."

Mrs. Nolan gave a scream of wrath. Nolan himself, regretting that the unpleasant scene had occurred, rose from the notes and advanced to calm the ruffled waters, but his face was clouded. His serious expression indicated that he was deeply concerned over the frank statements of his managing editor, and one could instinctively feel that he was convinced that Brand had spoken the truth.

DIES; WEALTH IS HIS PILLOW.

Recluse, Poisoned, Found Reclining on Box Containing $15,000.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24.—With his head pillowed on a "box" containing $15,000 worth of negotiable securities, Oscar Schenck, 70 years old, was found dead in bed in a small little room.

In his hand was a half-emptied vial of morphine tablets. The coroner was unable to say whether an overdose of the drug had been taken accidentally or whether the man had committed suicide.

A will was found bequeathing all his possessions to relatives by the name of Goetz, living in Kempsville, Ill.

Advance Guard Attacks Government Outposts and is Repulsed.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Jan. 24.—The advance guard of the revolutionary army attacked the outposts of the government forces at La Libertad. The fighting was hot, but the attacking force was small and was repulsed at the end of half an hour. This attack indicates that Gen. Chamorro's advancing column has reached the vicinity of Acayagua, and the long awaited attack on the government position at that point is expected hourly. That it will decide the fate of the revolution is admitted on all sides.

CLEAR UP MYSTERY OF ROCHESTER GIRL

SAILOR MAKES CONFESSION IN ANNA SCHUMACHER MURDER CASE.

SHE KILLED IN CEMETERY

James K. Hill, Prisoner Aboard Ship at Naval Station, Conscience-Stricken, Tells Officers All About Slaying of Young Girl.

Portsmouth, Jan. 24.—The mystery surrounding the killing last August of Anna Schumacher, a young girl of Rochester, N. Y., in the Holy Sepulcher cemetery of that city, has at last been cleared up through the confession of a sailor.

James K. Hill, who has been in a cell on the prison ship Southern at the naval station here on a charge of rebellion, to County Attorney Weldener, Sheriff Gillette and Assistant District Attorney Richter of Rochester.

Sweated All Day.
They were with him all day, not even leaving his cell long enough to get their meals. When they departed from the prison ship they said they had learned all about the killing of young Anna Schumacher. But they would not say whether Hill, the sailor, was the guilty man or merely an accomplice.

Hill's confession came about in a most dramatic way. When he enlisted in the navy he seemed furtive and suspicious of every one he met. This led to the revelation that he had misrepresented himself when he went to the recruiting office that accepted him. Then he was sent to the prison ship.

Hill Could Not Sleep.
The fellow prisoners at once noticed that he was a peculiar man. At night when every one was going to sleep he pitched and tossed in his bunk and groaned for hours. Yet the offense with which he was charged was a comparatively trivial one.

"What's the matter with you, Hill?" another prisoner asked him a couple of days ago; "what have you got on your mind?"

"I know about a young girl that was killed," Hill is said to have answered. "I can't get her out of my thoughts."

The other naval convicts drew from him the story of the Schumacher slaying and then advised him to tell it to the authorities, first, however, getting from them a written agreement that he would be shown leniency. He did tell the commandant of the station, who in turn revealed the story to the local and Rochester officials.

TAFT AND TILLMAN IN CLASH.

Dispute Over Merits of Armies in Cuba and Philippines.

Washington, Jan. 24.—At a dinner given by the military order of the Caribbea, President Taft declared that this government had no intention of annexing Cuba; that the ultimate destiny of the Philippines was a political relation like that of Canada or Australia; defended army and navy officers from the charge of opposition to the retention of the Philippines, and emphasized the work which had been done by this government for the enlightenment and progress of the Philippines.

The declarations by the president were brought out by some characteristic remarks by Senator Tillman, a guest, in which he denounced the war with Spain and introduced the race question, and pointed to the alleged "hell brood" of racial conditions in Cuba. President Taft made a serious reply in a pleasant manner to the onslaught of Senator Tillman and indicated that the senator was talking for political effect.

MISSING HEAD IS DISCOVERED.

Boy Finds Missing Portion of Murdered Woman's Body in Snow.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The severed head of Mrs. Jennie Cleghorn, whose mutilated body was found early last Thursday in a negro resort at 54 West Seventeenth street, was discovered by a boy in a vacant lot.

Like the body, the head was mutilated. The mouth had been slashed on both sides and there was a knife stab mark in the top of the skull just back of the forehead. The face was marked as if by blows. The head apparently had been cut and twisted from the body in a way that to the police indicates the murderer had some knowledge of anatomy.

The police believe the head was thrown in the snow the morning of the murder and has lain in the lot ever since. It could have been tossed from the sidewalk to the place where it was found.

Banker Succumbs to Shock.
Philadelphia, Jan. 24.—Richard H. Rushton, president of the Fourth Street National bank, one of the largest financial institutions here, is dead of a complication of diseases. Three years ago Mr. Rushton's nervous system was almost wrecked by a bomb explosion. An unknown man, who had been refused money, dropped a bomb at Mr. Rushton's office door, instantly killing the stranger and the cashier of the bank. Mr. Rushton never fully recovered from the shock.

"Persecuted" Is Arrested.
New York, Jan. 24.—George B. Duff, the young man whose alleged persecution by the police brought about the resignation of Commissioner Blinckum, was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and fighting in the street.
